SURFACE INTEREST

Tile flooring is an exciting decor element that can bring out the best in any living space. Your options depend on the area you'd like to transform – for example, ceramic or porcelain tiles are ideal for the interior of a home, whereas natural stone tiles are suited to outdoor areas. With an extensive selection available, you're sure to find suitable tiles that complete the look in style.

INSIDE STORY

'Ceramic tiles create a classic look. You can be assured of a hard-wearing and easily maintained surface for many years,' says Kate van Niekerk, marketing manager of TILE AFRICA. Polished porcelain tiles are another great choice for indoor flooring because they reflect light to create a marvellous sense of space. Moreover, their nanotechnology finish means they're durable, and slip-, bacteria- and dirt-resistant – perfect for a kitchen environment.

TAKE IT OUTSIDE

Earthy and highly resilient, natural stone tiles such as slate and sandstone work particularly well as outdoor flooring.

These ranges have a neutral, organic quality that lends an inviting warmth to alfresco entertainment areas.
